With Spill & Bleed, the exhibition title draws on two terms from audio engineering that describe the echoing of sounds into unintended places. Rave and dancefloor cultures are currently undergoing a similar process: they are surfacing in new contexts, resonating with diverse audiences and influencing multiple disciplines and genres.

Spill & Bleed explores the temporalities and politics of the dancefloor — a space where time twists sideways, loops backwards and refuses to always move forward.

This exhibition is a collaboration with STREAM Festival and Art University Linz.
