To the Surface

To the surface is a group exhibition bringing together students of the painting department of the Kunstuni Linz. Questioning painting as an individual and singular or even solitary practice, the exhibition approaches painting through site-specific installation and alternative image carriers, examining it as a spatial, material, and collaborative practice. Using salt as a metaphorical framework, the exhibition moves through its qualities: preserving and corroding, absorbing and drying, crystallizing and evaporating to reflect on collective dynamics and acts of negotiation and exchange.
